A Couple Stabbed by Their Neighbor

Phoenix Police detectives are investigating a stabbing of man and a woman after a confrontation with their neighbor.

Officers were called to the area around 11:30 this morning about a stabbing. When they arrived, they found a man and a woman with multiple stab wounds. Witnesses told officers the suspect went back into his apartment after the assault.

The man and woman were transported to the hospital with life-threatening injuries. Officers attempted to communicate with the suspect, but he did not respond.

Detectives from the Assaults Unit responded and they obtained a search warrant to enter the suspect's apartment. Officers with the Special Assignments Unit responded to assist with the warrant. As the officers approached the apartment the suspect gave up and was detained.

During the investigation, detectives learned the argument started after the victims were confronting the suspect after they heard him banging on their wall. The suspect was interviewed and will be booked on multiple felony charges. The victims remain in the hospital in serious condition.

The suspect's booking information will be released when it becomes available.
